BRITISH MINERS CONCUR; END OF STRIKE EXPECTED

EVERY PROSPECT OF TERMS FOR SETTLEMENT BEING REACHED TONIGHT.

COAL PRICE SAME
Increased Wages Not to Affect Consumer, According to Scheme.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

London, Oct. 27.—A member of the miners' executive body informed the conference of trades union delegates here today that there was every prospect of terms for a settlement of the coal strike being reached tonight.

It is reported the miners' leaders have accepted the government's terms and will submit them to a conference of the miners' delegates.

The mine owners also are said to have agreed to the government proposals.

Newspaper Confident.

This morning's newspapers were confident today's resumption of the conference would result in a settlement and that the miners would be at work again within a few days.

According to information gathered in conference circles, the miners, under the scheme voted on yesterday, will accept the increase in wages to be demand as from October 27, the end of December, by which time, it is expected, a national wage board which is to be established will have devised a permanent scheme.

Coal Price Not Increased.

The price, it is said, under the proposed settlement plan, is not to be increased to domestic consumers, but the increased wages are to be met by the revenue from the exports and, according to some reports, the wage scale is to rise and fall according to the revenue from that trade.

It also is reported that under the contemplated settlement the miners' executive has undertaken not to resort in future to direct action to secure the industrialization of the mines, and likewise has agreed to cooperate cordially toward the success of the new plan.

LISTS OF HAITIAN DEATHS REDUCED BY ERROR IN COUNT

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Natives killed in Haiti during the two years of American occupation numbered 2,250, instead of 6,250, as previously announced. It was disclosed at the opening public session today of the naval court of inquiry recently appointed by Secretary Daniels to investigate the conduct of the island republic.

Gen. General Barrett, former commanding of the corps, the first witness before the court, testified that a mistake in addition has led to the erroneous announcement. Major Edmund F. McSwiney, attached to the casualty record office of the corps, testified that only a very few of the natives killed had not fallen in action with the marines or the gendarmerie.

Gen. General Barnett, said he was "terribly shocked" by conditions of Haiti disclosed by conditions of Privates Wm. B. Johnson and John J. McSwiney, Jr., of the marine corps last year. The conclusion was reached after reading the records in those cases he testified, was that there existed "a state of mind which might have led it" possible for anyone to be killed.

Questioned by Major Jess F. Carter, judge advocate of the court, Gen. General Barnett said he had a knowledge of any unlawful killings in Haiti except those related to the trial of the two privates. He explained that when he wrote to Col. John H. Russell, brigade commander in Haiti, that it appeared the indiscriminate killings had gone on for some time he did not go on "promiscuous killing" but "killing without judgment."

4,800 Individuals in County Pay Income Tax Totaling Near $150,000

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The aggregate income tax paid by 4,815 individuals of Rock county for the past calendar year is $144,594.75, according to figures just compiled by county assessor of incomes, Franklin Taylor. This amount does not include either that paid by corporations, or the educational surtax, which are listed separately. Of the above amount more than three-fourths, or $117,622.75, was paid by the four cities, Janesville, Beloit, Edgerton and Evansville, while the rest of the amount was paid by the 20 towns and the four villages.

Janesville is by far the richest town in the county, the figures show. Its income tax amounted to $6,684.71, while that of Beloit, which exceeds Janesville in population by 2,001, paid a tax of $35,938.12, or a little more than one-half that of Janesville.

More taxpayers in Beloit.

Political Situation in Middle West Indicates Enormous G. O. P. Majorities.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—The political situation in the middlewest, now settled into its final form, indicates republican majorities "so enormous that one hesitates even to mention them," said the chairman of the republican national committee in charge of western headquarters, who today gave out the following review of campaign conditions:

"Alumnus will go for Harding by a very large majority, undoubtedly above 100,000. As a national organization the democratic party in Minnesota has almost ceased to exist."

DEATHS DEAD IN NEBRASKA

In Nebraska the democratic organization is more than a republicanism in that state will be unusually large, at least 60,000.

"In Iowa, the republicans will win over 100,000. Senator Cummins will pull through but will run considerably behind the national ticket."

The Evening News today prints the following statement which it says was made by the deputy Lord Mayor of Cork:

"We are leaving behind us in your capital many of our patriots who will see that the debt of your government is fully paid. The English stand as, but there will be reprisals, and so on."

CORK IN MOURNING

ORDERS IS MAINTAINED

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Cork, Oct. 27.—Outside of the Cork City hall there was posted to-day the following:

"The second republican Lord Mayor of Cork lies as his prey murdered by the British government. Cork is in mourning. Citizens of any section of them will such only authorized action. Orders will be issued by the authority."

BURIAL ARRANGED

Today passed quickly with exception of a slight stir caused by military raids on banks in search of firearms placed in vaults for safe-keeping.

The body of Joseph Murphy, one of the hunger strikers in Cork jail, who died Sunday night, was returned to a church from which the funeral was held today. With the exception of Kenny and Doran, who are believed to be rapidly near death, doctors say there is still chance to save the lives of the remaining hunger strikers, if they are released.

LEGION APPROVES HOLT'S FLAG PLAN

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Approved of a plan of Superintendents of Schools Frank Holt to install patriotism into the children of the city was given by the Richard Ellis Post of the American Legion at meeting at the memory, Tuesday night. Originally the Legion required that the schools fly the flag every day of the school year, but the board of education thought that it would be better to fly the flag only on special occasions so that the pupils would better get the significance of its meaning.

As an outcome of Mr. Holt's plan, an "American's Creed" hung from the wall of every school room in the city and a small American flag hung above it.

GARFIELD SPEAKS FOR LENROOT AS SENATE LEADER

ARRAIGNS LA FOLLETTE FOR FALSE STATEMENTS ABOUT THE SENATOR.

WILSONISM IS ISSUE

Tells Audience That Packed Apollo, League Is Blind for Real Issue.

"I am glad to be back in Wisconsin to discuss the national issues that confront the country today, and I am very glad to be present so that I can tell what the people of Ohio think of your junior senator from Wisconsin. It may seem impudent for a man from outside your home candidate, but the people of Ohio, where Senator Lenroot is known, recognize him as one of the most progressive senators of the country and want him re-elected so that he may continue his good work."

Vigorous applause from the audience followed the Apollo speech.

"The strike," called the speaker, "is the National Whiskey ring's association in a plot urging members to withhold their wheat from market until the price of $5 was obtained, was declared by W. H. McGreevy, Wichita, Kan., secretary of the organization, to be in full force."

League Spokesman Complete.

"Mr. McGreevy asserted the association membership of 70,000 was unanimous in its intention not to sell and predicted the desired price would be realized within 20 days.

J. C. Mohler, Topeka, secretary of the Kansas State Board of Agriculture, on the other hand, was emphatic in his assurance that there was no such

OPENING OF BELOIT ROAD MARKS NEW ERA IN COUNTY

Welsh farm, just north of Town Line bridge. Hundreds of automobiles, many of them decorated, are expected to join in the demonstration, while a large delegation of state, county and municipal officials will be present.

Simultaneously, at 10 o'clock, a parade will start from Janesville and end at the Welsh farm. The Janesville participants will gather at court house park and the hour is set aside for the officials, who have been requested to decorate and headed by the cars of the officials, will proceed to the ceremonial location.

At the Welsh farm a platform has been erected for the speakers. The Janesville participants will gather at the farm approach, which will be suitably decorated. At first the shovels of the first cut from the roadway will be used, then the silver shovel, Mayor Thomas E. Welsh of Janesville and Mayor Joseph A. Janvrin of Beloit will shake hands across an imaginary boundary line and be presented with bouquets of flowers. Miss Lulu Lee, who will live at the new highway, the first approaches will then be made and the band of the Fairbanks-Morse company will play. The entire parade will then go to Beloit, where a banquet will be served at the Hilton hotel.

One of the dishes that will be part of the meal will be cooked at the Grand hotel, Janesville, and served while still steaming hot at the short distance between the two cities.

Among the officials who will participate will be:

4,800 PEOPLE PAY INCOME TAX HERE

Beloit is in Janesville, the individual incomes here are greater than in Beloit. In Janesville 268 individuals have incomes in excess of $3,000 and in Beloit there are only 180 persons with incomes of the same amount. This is brought out by the fact that the above figures in both cities were required to pay an educational surtax which is required only by those whose incomes exceed $3,000. They must pay an additional tax of 1-5 of one cent. Income tax payers in this Janesville number 4,800, while this number was exceeded in Beloit by 242.

Edgerton incomes high.

Edgerton, while it has less income tax payers than Evansville, has a much higher tax showing that the wealth of the 33 taxpayers in the former city exceeds that of the 62 tax payers in Evansville. The income tax paid last year by Edgerton amounted to $4,518.75 while that of Evansville was $2,613.75.

At the town La Prairie is the wealthiest, for with only 53 incomes payers it paid $812.97 more than any other town, some of which had as many as 100 taxpayers.

Of all revenue from incomes 70 percent goes back to the district from which it came, 20 per cent goes to the county, and 10 per cent to the state, according to Assessor Taylor.

The figures do not include corporations. The table tells an interesting story.

Those who expect to be able to get to the polls next Tuesday should apply this week for ballots, either by mail, telephone or in person. Thirty mail ballots have been sent out so far by Mr. Sartell.

Cox Claims Racial Hatred
Is Aroused Against Him

100,000 FOR HARDING IN OHIO ELECTION

like Toledo and Cleveland, the two principal northern Ohio cities, the advantage lies with Harding. Moreover Cox cannot expect anything in Hamilton county, which includes Cincinnati, a district which helped him win the governorship in 1918.

It seems to be a case of anti-Cox versus Democrat Givens Up.

"I am more partisan than I have ever been," said one prominent democrat. "I am more anxious for Cox to win than I was for Wilson to win in 1916 and I know how hard I worked for that—but I can see no chance for the democratic national ticket in Ohio this year. I am afraid the majority will not be less than 100,000 for Harding."

From every source, republican and democrat, the writer obtains information that Vic Denahay, the democratic candidate for governor, is much stronger than former May Davis of Cleveland, the republican nominee. This merely reflects the fact that the democratic party in Ohio is much more popular than the republican party in any section.

Perhaps labor is the only group that considers Harding hostile. The trade unions think well of him, while the people think more of the personnel of the democratic party as a whole than of any individual who has been selected to lead the party.

There is a peculiar confidence that the republican party will run the government and do a better job than its predecessor. Another factor has been sales by the democrats about the republican party's failure to produce leaders or remedial legislation in the last two years in congress.

Looking to Congress

They have permitted thought to be concentrated entirely on the executive side of the government. Congress is expected to develop legislation and tackle troublesome questions such as the tariff, profits tax, under the Harding leadership. The democrats on their part have not been able to convince the voters here about that they have any better leaders. The whole burden is placed upon the next executive and his cabinet. Only time will tell if a new party like a new cabinet in Washington. Harding is the symbol or exponent of the whole movement. Ohio would go republican if almost any other member of the United States senate or republican party were running for president. It's a republican year in Ohio on the presidential ticket.

EGGERTON, The 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bart Gurrard died this morning of convulsions after the nest of rats devoured him. The funeral will be held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon from St. Joseph's church.

A six-man jury was summoned in municipal court today to decide the case against Fred Doubleday, town of Eggerton, who is charged with selling adulterated milk. It is a test case, similar charges having been made against two other farmers in that section.

It is alleged Doubleday sold milk to the State Cheese factory, town of Eggerton, containing less than 8½ per cent solids not fat. The charge was made through the state dairy and meat commission.

With Dist. Atty. S. G. Dunnigan appearing for the state and E. H. Miller, attorney for the defendant, the trial was adjourned to begin at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The jury was selected from the town.

Caution When buying a Sheep Lined Coat be sure the skin is from a domestic sheep.

Foreign Skins are flint dried for shipping economy with all nature's oil extracted. The tanning greases used to make them pliable soon dry out and linings of coats made from them grow hard and brittle.

The reason domestic skins are so pliable and become more so with use is their Natural Oil.

BREAD is the one food we find on every table—rich and poor alike. Pity the man who eats little bread. He tickles his palate at the expense of stamina and muscular strength. His resistance to disease is weakened by the rich foods he eats. We sometimes hear the expression "The sick rich man cannot get well." He pays the price of rich foods and too little bread.

America owes the stamina of its workers, the virility of its thinkers, the sturdiness of its children to the fact that we are a nation of bread-eaters.

The most elaborate meal or the simplest, includes bread. What's so appetizing for the dainty luncheon as those wedges of sandwiches? What else can take the place of bread in the dinner pail? What for breakfast can equal the zest of well-crisped toast?

Bread—always the staff of life—always the foundation of the American meal has contributed nourishment that only of late have we fully appreciated. Every slice of "HOLSUM" Bread provides a valuable quantity of VITAMINES.

VITAMINES are the very basis of good health. They make effective the other elements of nutrition. They promote the building of tissue and stimulate its repair. They see that a reserve is established for immunity against disease.

VITAMINES also come from grains and fresh vegetables, from milk and butter. But the most dependable all-year-long source of supply of VITAMINES is bread—"HOLSUM Bread."

You can depend upon "HOLSUM" to give you VITAMINES because they are put into it by the pure ingredients that are used and are retained completely by the scientific "HOLSUM" process which safeguards every stage of making.

NO GROUND FOR PESSIMISM NOW

"We have reached a turn in financial conditions throughout the country, and are giving everyone a great deal of concern. But if the situation is viewed in the proper light there is little room for pessimism," said L. V. Lookout, former resident of Janesville, who is here today. Mr. Lookout is the credit manager of the Industrial Acceptance Corporation with offices at Chicago.

"During the last few years there has been a tremendous rise in the prices of all commodities, money included, and this rise in price has reached the point where it is the only thing possible. The fortunate part of the whole situation is that there is no over-production of any commodity, consequently there is not a great quantity of goods which can be thrown on the market at a sacrifice."

"Business generally is faced with a necessity of reducing a reduction in prices to a point where the public will feel a reduced income can buy the usual quantity. It should be borne in mind that no prolonged financial depression has ever continued in this country except when there was a great over-production of commodities."

The present calls for a little cool-headed thinking and willingness for humans to take a temporary loss which can be readily retrieved later when the movement of goods has been regulated by reasonable price reduction accompanied by liberal amount of advertising. Publicity from now on will be a great factor in determining the volume of sales, and volume of sales in turn will determine whether a business is to show a profit or loss."

EMPHASIZES JANESEVILLE'S NEED OF A PARK.

Rockford is to have another park. It has been given to the city by one of its citizens, Winthrop Ingerson, in memory of a son who was killed in the war overseas.

There are 147 acres in the tract. In the years to come the people of Rockford, those now living and those yet unborn, will have reason to praise the act of Mr. and Mrs. Ingerson.

That is one thing Janesville lacks—a park. There was a time when we could have had what is known now as Riverside for a fair price.

To the city and the people who have no place to go for recreation, it would have been of inestimable value. We should have a park on the river bank, a natural park with shade and bathing facilities and all the room needed for play.

It is not too late to do something. We have a city planning commission, but so far little has been accomplished.

Will we ever have a park, or if we do, will we wait until it is necessary to purchase property at an exorbitant price for a play place?

UNCONTROLLED POWER.

After all the great national issue which will be settled on Tuesday next, is not the League of Nations, nor is it Harding or Cox. It is whether we will continue the sort of autocratic government which we have suffered for the last eight years.

The real issue is what may well be termed "Wilsonian." Just before the election in 1918 President Wilson issued an appeal for the election of a congress that would be behind him. We shall not at this time forget his words: "Unless you give me uncontrolled power you repudiate me and my leadership before the world."

No president ever dared to go so far. The country refused to give him that "Uncontrolled power" he asked. It promptly defeated his candidates and elected a congress that functioned as a part of the government according to the constitution. But with no need to this rebuke, the president went to Paris and proceeded to change the entire basic principle of government here and to substitute a super kind—the same kind which 205 years ago the Holy Alliance had by mistake adopted to stonk on a world.

We are tired and weary of autocracy in the White House. We have a right to demand that we return to the principles on which this government was founded. Four years ago the nation was deceived. It re-elected Wilson because "he kept us out of war." This year the same deception is being practiced on the League of Nations issue to keep us in war interminably. The issue is squarely put: Shall we have a continuance of Wilsonism in the shape of James Cox?

ON THE MULBERGER BILL.

Some of the people are perturbed because an organization in Wisconsin heretofore identified as a foe of prohibition, has sent out a circular asking that support be given the Mulberger law. The reason is clear, and that is another thing that should place every enemy of the saloon on guard; the circular calls attention to the fact that should congress raise the percentage of alcohol in beer or other beverages, Wisconsin would come under the act. It is well not to be alarmed over this. In this case the Supreme Court has clearly decided that the federal law supersedes any state law. No state law can be enforced if in conflict with the federal law. If we had prohibition in this state and our laws provided for one-half of 1 per cent and Congress enacted a change in the Volstead law making, say, 4 per cent the legal content, our law would be automatically inoperative under the supreme court decision. It would not make any difference to the people. We are perfectly willing the society should vote for the Mulberger law. Let us have it unanimously supported.

One more objection has confronted some of the advocates. That is that it provides for an army of new officers at a great expense to the taxpayers. It is true that a commissioner is to be named and he can appoint deputies, but the total expense cannot exceed $15,000. We ought to be willing to pay that sum for the elimination of the saloon from Wisconsin.

Be sure that the pink ticket gets your cross in the "Yes" box.

THE ISSUE IN WISCONSIN.

It would seem that the issue so far as the state is concerned is squarely drawn. There is no longer a muddle. It has been clarified now so that no man may feel that he is at all untrue to his party in splitting his ticket. Mr. Blaine has joined Mr. Thompson. It would seem that the democrats of the state owe it to themselves to vote for Mr. Lenroot. There appears no hope of electing Dr. Reinhart as the outlook is now. It will be either Lenroot or Thompson. The forces of organized disturbance in the state are making a strenuous contest. With the funds of the non-partisan league behind them there is no lack of means to carry on the campaign, and under the statute it will not be necessary for any report of the use of those funds under the corrupt practices act.

It is useless to deny the fact that Senator Lenroot will need every vote that can be brought to the polls for him. It would be a crying disgrace to the state to defeat him. Former Secretary of the Interior, James R. Garfield, voiced the wish of the honest progressive representatives of the nation when he said to a Janesville audience last night that Senator Lenroot was looked upon as the leader of progressives, and that were he alive Theodore Roosevelt would be out giving his support to Senator Lenroot.

The issue does not seem to be any fixed thing

Making School Books

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 27.—This city is one of the country's fountain heads of learning. Aside from harboring the great and awe inspiring Harvard University, numerous lesser schools, and endless bookshops specializing in all degrees of erudition, Cambridge possesses the factory of the largest schoolbook publishing company in the country. This plant regularly keeps 2,000,000 schoolbooks on hand in its storage bins, and even with this reserve, the presses have to run night and day at the busy seasons.

Right now, the factory is working at the highest pressure. Schools from Florida to California send to the company's offices in Boston for books, and while most schools are opened by this time, orders are still piling in. Many school officials, it seems, have a way of waiting until the term is about to open and then deciding on the books to be used and the company to patronize. This casual attitude of the local powers is one of the chief causes of white hair in the textbook business. No ouija board has yet been located that can tell us how many physics or spelling books of a certain kind will be called for, so that it has to estimate a reasonable number and then work at top speed if orders exceed expectation.

This company, with its stock of 2,000,000 books, finds it necessary to keep less than 4,000 different titles on hand, and these are all what might be called current books, for as soon as a textbook becomes discontinued or is supplanted by a later edition, the old copies on the shelves are torn up to be sold as junk.

Walking along the storage rooms you can catch glances of spelling book and arithmetic that call up pictures of your early struggles with culture. Familiar works are here too, such as Euclid's "Elements," "Word Formation in the Roman Service," "A Grammar of the Inuit Language." The guide obligingly explains that Inuit means Eskimo, that this particular work is rarely called for, and that it sells for five dollars. To the city and the people who have no place to go for recreation, it would have been of inestimable value. We should have a park on the river bank, a natural park with shade and bathing facilities and all the room needed for play. It is not too late to do something. We have a city planning commission, but so far little has been accomplished. Will we ever have a park, or if we do, will we wait until it is necessary to purchase property at an exorbitant price for a play place?

UNCONTROLLED POWER.

After all the great national issue which will be settled on Tuesday next, is not the League of Nations, nor is it Harding or Cox. It is whether we will continue the sort of autocratic government which we have suffered for the last eight years. The real issue is what may well be termed "Wilsonian." Just before the election in 1918 President Wilson issued an appeal for the election of a congress that would be behind him. We shall not at this time forget his words: "Unless you give me uncontrolled power you repudiate me and my leadership before the world."

The demand for schoolbooks increases every year, and this means plenty of trade for the publishers. They tell you, though, that they are far from sailing on a smooth sea of prosperity. Certain kinds of paper are about to advance two cents a pound, which means that the rates on schoolbooks will go up, as it is claimed that they are not being sold on as low a margin of profit as is permissible. An advance will not cut down business for schoolbooks are a necessity, but publishers say that they dread announcing a raise, for the public, seeing sugar, leather, and wool drop, is all the more loath to part with larger sums for other commodities.

In the past, they say, schoolbooks have remained remarkably stable in price, though publishers have been constantly increasing expenditures to improve the appearance of their product.

Few people have any idea of the ins and outs of putting a textbook on the market. You may have paused to smile over the fancy that school children now have more history to assimilate than when you pored over dates and battles, but did you ever think of the schoolbook producer who has to keep up with the wandering boundaries of Europe and reduce the World War to a few pages of text language suitable for children? Did you know, for instance, that the more progressive publishers are having their geography practically re-written since the war in order to bring, not only the maps, but the text up to date?

An editor of the firm referred to in this story says that his company spent about $100,000 before a single copy of its newest geography could be printed. Now the book is being run off the presses as rapidly as possible, and the firm cannot begin to fill the demand for it.

Producing schoolbooks is in many ways entirely different from publishing fiction. A best seller novel that would require an investment of three or four thousand dollars and sell for $2 a copy has a boom of a few months and then sizzles down to cheap editions and soon fades out of sight and memory. The returns are immediate and brief, and the author then expected to grind out a new masterpiece.

"HOW TO BE A WIDOW."

We have noticed with more or less, shall we say apprehension, a discussion in some of the magazines on the subject of "how to be a widow." The subject is one which seems to take hold of the feminine mind, as it were. Some of them are already widows, while others have hopes.

We would be disinclined to believe that any woman would enter into the ancient and honorable institution of marriage with such indifference as that. The main reason in which the matter is discussed right out in the public prints leads us to a state of uncertainty, and we are sure many husbands, when chance to read the fair sex magazines when there is nothing else in the house, share our nervous feelings.

Q. Does the average person drink more coffee than tea in this country?

A. M. E. In the United States the average consumption of tea is about a pound per capita annually, the average consumption of coffee being 10 pounds per capita. It must be borne in mind that a pound of tea provides more cups of beverage than does a pound of coffee.

Q. What is the length, weight, and passenger accommodation of a Pullman car?

A. The length of the usual Pullman car is 80 1/2 feet, including two vestibules of 3 1/2 feet each. This car weighs about 150,000 pounds, and is usually made in ten sections and two drawing rooms.

Q. Will fence posts made of honey locust trees last as well as those made of post oak timber?

A. The Forest Service says that, provided the timber is properly treated, honey locust posts will last longer than post oak timber.

Q. What is the average age of man?

A. Statistics show that the average duration of human life is 16 years.

Q. What is Yerba Mate? W. A. L.

A. Mate is a substitute for tea, extensively used in South America.

It contains the leaves and green shoots of certain species of holly, more especially Ilex paraguariensis, dried and crushed.

Q. When did the negro first vote for president? N. A. Z.

A. The negro voted for President for the first time in 1868, when Ulysses S. Grant of Illinois and Schuyler Colfax of Indiana were elected by the Republicans.

Q. What is grass cloth made of?

M. G. A. Grass cloth is made of a fibre known as China grass or Chinese grass. The fiber is not a grass, but is obtained from a plant allied to the nettle.

The article does not go into the details and tells women exactly how to be widows.

There are many ways. In fact it is one of the oldest arts in existence. One can be a widow so easily.

However, we do not favor the discussion. It has a more or less personal tone which we do not fancy.

Miss Amelia Stubbs of Hornellsville has had a deplorable record in the back of her two-passenger swing swing this season, so that when her gentle friends came to split a few quiet soft-boiled eggs, the conversation turned to the subject of the new "widow" in the family.

The article does not go into the details and tells women exactly how to be widows.

There are many ways. In fact it is one of the oldest arts in existence. One can be a widow so easily.

However, we do not favor the discussion. It has a more or less personal tone which we do not fancy.

It would seem that the issue so far as the state is concerned is squarely drawn. There is no longer a muddle. It has been clarified now so that no man may feel that he is at all untrue to his party in splitting his ticket. Mr. Blaine has joined Mr. Thompson. It would seem that the democrats of the state owe it to themselves to vote for Mr. Lenroot. There appears no hope of electing Dr. Reinhart as the outlook is now. It will be either Lenroot or Thompson. The forces of organized disturbance in the state are making a strenuous contest. With the funds of the non-partisan league behind them there is no lack of means to carry on the campaign, and under the statute it will not be necessary for any report of the use of those funds under the corrupt practices act.

It is useless to deny the fact that Senator Lenroot will need every vote that can be brought to the polls for him. It would be a crying disgrace to the state to defeat him. Former Secretary of the Interior, James R. Garfield, voiced the wish of the honest progressive representatives of the nation when he said to a Janesville audience last night that Senator Lenroot was looked upon as the leader of progressives, and that were he alive Theodore Roosevelt would be out giving his support to Senator Lenroot.

The issue does not seem to be any fixed thing

JUST FOLKS

BOOKS.

Books are the land where friendly people dwell.

The happy land where loved ones never die;

The young stay young, the old continue

How'er neglected in the dust they lie.

Within the pages born of human thought

We live again the battles men have fought

And share their glad romances, old and new,

And though we change, our books are always true.

We can desert these friends for many years

And then return to them and sit awhile

And find the same sweet comfort for our tears.

The same brave, happy friend to make

The wise philosopher upon the shelf remains.

To prove to us the glory of our pains,

Who owns a few good books need never

For he has friends who were not born to die.

Age does not mar the charm of women fair,

Success is never followed by conceit,

Men do not grieve beneath the touch of nature,

Nor change their natures with one small defeat.

What once was lovely lives on lovely still.

Time hath no power the bloom of youth to kill,

And all the brave are brave unto the end.

Just as they were when first their lives were plann'd.

There are two worlds through which we all may range—

The living world where humans come

Where every day brings on its sudden change.

And what will be no man can surely know!

And then there is that wonder land of books.

A dim land of shelves and halls and nooks,

And there, in spite of time and hurt and pain,

Unchangeable, the friends we loved, remain.

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

DEAR JOE:

Well, Joe, I suppose you've been following up this baseball scandal. I don't know who would if you didn't, because the first thing you do when you get a hold of a newspaper is to make a bee-line for the sporting page, even before you so much as glance at this news. Of course everybody has a right to their own interests, and as the saying is it takes all sorts of queer things to fill a world, but still at the same time I never could understand your taste in choosing a home run in preference to a good murder.

Personally, it's my opinion that you couldn't hardly expect a lot of baseball teams to stay perfectly honest when you start calling them insulting names such as the White Socks and the Reds and the Pirates, and so on, etc. Why should it matter what kind of socks they wear as long as they're good players and mind their own business? The result is that when some comparative stranger offers them a big bribe to throw the ball in the wrong direction they reason to themselves, "Oh, well, we're being called out of our name, anyway, so we might as well do something to be really deserving of it."

The news that you've had your picture taken again is real discouraging, considering the fact that I've just hardly succeeded in getting the baby to look with his normal expression at your last pictures. I did it by putting a little sugar in his mouth when I held up the picture, and gradually he found out it wouldn't hurt him. So if the next batch don't show you to better advantage than the last batch, please note the photographer to keep them as souvenirs. You might induce him to pay by giving him a little more than his regular charge for them.

The baby put on six ounces again last week, bless his heart, and I put on almost 2 pounds, darn it. It's avarious world, Joe. What's a blessing to one is another's curse. Fondle love, TESSIE.

Joe's new photographs don't even try to flatter him. He tells Tessie about them tomorrow.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters May Be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When I was sixteen years old I started to keep company with one of my school friends. We were very much in love and planned to be married someday. Mother was born in Boston and so she had great ambitions for me and always planned that I should be sent away to school. She and father saved years for that occasion. After graduating from high school we spent the summer making pretty things for my to take with me. My time at college was short, however, until I was in an accident and was brought home an invalid. My old sweetheart didn't seem to care any the less for me and did everything he could to make me happy.

After two years I was so much better that I was sent to my uncle's for a change. While there I met a man five years older than myself who fell in love with me and asked me to marry him. My childhood love was nothing in comparison with my love for this man. I did not give him my promise because I realized that I owed everything to my old sweetheart who remained true to me through everything.

Now I am at home again and I am receiving letters from the man in the city where my mother lives. It seems to me I cannot stand the attractions of my old sweetheart and yet I have not the heart to tell him the truth.

Please help me decide what to do under the circumstances.

A problem like yours cannot be answered quickly. Let time help you to decide. It may be that your love for the second man is mere infatuation and that it will not stand the test of time.

It is quite out of the question, however, for you to keep up the odd relationship with your former sweetheart. In such a matter pretense is wring. Tell him the truth. It will cause him great suffering, of course. If he loves you he would not let go of you so easily. Your love is a thing not governed by ourselves and so you are not to blame for your change of mind. Tell your former sweetheart that you are going to wait a year before you decide to marry. This will give you time to understand yourself better and to be sure of the other man's love.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I met a boy whom I very fond of, and I believe he thought a great deal of me. We were together often for seven months. A girl told him I said something about him, but this was not true. He found out the girl had not told the truth, but we were only together two or three times after that. The last time he told me I became angry and told him I hated him. I was sorry after I had said it.

Later I invited him to a party, but he had to leave town for the weekend, which I know was true. I see him at least twice a week, but only talk to him. I have gone with other boys since, but I can't seem to enjoy their company as I always think of this other boy. Whenever we happen to be any place at the same time he watches me continually.

I have tried so hard to forget him as I feel he will not go with me again, but it seems I can't. I do not let this cause me not to have good times and not enjoy life, but I want to cease thinking of him as it often makes me very blue. Although I care very much for him, what can I do to forget him?

PEQUITA—You must control your thoughts instead of letting them control you. When you find yourself thinking about the young man read, work or do something that will turn your thoughts in another direction.

It is only natural that you should enjoy dreaming and building castles of what might have been, but do not dream. However, you sacrifice happiness for the pleasure of the moment.

When you have conquered your thoughts you will discover new interests and new loves equal to or greater than the last.

VELVET BLOUSE IS TRIMMED WITH WHITE KID LACING

Here is one of the most unusual models of all the new fall blouses. It is fashioned in black chintz and features the original white kid. The girdle, square neck, sleeves and front panel have a simple trimming design which is unusual only because it is done in white kid. The blouse is made in kimono style with loose three-quarter sleeves and is smart for afternoon or restaurant wear.

MANTOWEE—The city's paving program for the year is to be completed by the end of October. The plant of the Manitowee Construction Co. finished 28 blocks of the work. Early in the season the paving contractors experienced difficulty in getting the cement which delayed starting the work. However, they were favored the last two months with suitable weather.

ANTIGO—Miss Muriel Harrington Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller and Ernest C. Johnson, Stambrough Mich., were married at the home of the bride, the Rev. W. R. Dixon, Consecrated Methodist Church.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin with the class of 1910, and taught in the high school of Antigo River, Wis., for two years. She is cashier for the Brule Mining Co.

GARFIELD SPEAKS FOR SEN. LENROOT
country that we were unprepared.

that because of this unpreparedness hundreds of thousands of our boys were needlessly sacrificed, in the camps and abroad because they did not have the training that many did not know how to fire the rifle which they were given to fight with in the trenches? Was this the result of higher morality?" "For four or five months after war was declared no effort was made by the administration to prepare for war but was frittering away time in Washington, President Wilson in his egoism said that the declaration of war was against Germany, Austria-Hungary and Turkey would make them sue for peace. They don't like us to remember these things now. They don't like us to remember that millions yes, billions were spent in the hope that a better rifle, a better model of airplane, a better machine gun, would be perfected, one-third of the $20,000,000,000 spent for preparedness for war in this country was needless extravagance. War is the greatest waste known to mankind and we will realize that in October we will make some mistakes but the conduct of world war on this side of the ocean by the administration deserves just condemnation.

None of these new ideas ever reached the firing lines.

As far as railroads.

The federalization of railroads cost the country $3,000,000,000, and the government ownership of the railroads was proven a failure. Just before the break came and the roads were to be returned to William McAdoo, Mr. Richardson's secretary of the treasury and director-general of railroads, declared that it was necessary for him to resign to recoup personal fortunes and became attorney for the motion picture industry at a salary of $100,000 a year.

At the time these words were taken over by the government it was easily seen that it would cost the country billions that federalization was a dismal failure and should have to be returned to their private owners.

Identical bills introduced by Senator Wilson and Congress that the roads should have to be returned and Congress began studying conditions.

Making the Esch-Cummins Law.

"After a whole year spent in deliberation of this subject with eminent experts laborers and engineers in consultation, the Esch-Cummins bill was drafted and issued. It was one of the greatest bills any congress had ever undertaken and I am surprised at the attack on Senator Lenroot and his colleague, Senator La Follette. Senator La Follette has exploded every one of his charges. The Esch-Cummins law as it was passed by congress was as Senator Lenroot says one of the best laws ever passed by congress."

La Follette in Washington.

"When Senator La Follette came to the senate in Roosevelt's term, on account of his record record in the state of Wisconsin, he was welcomed by the progressive administration at Washington, but we soon found that he was unwilling to cooperate with others unwilling to accept the opinion of others on questions of policy. He wanted to play his lone hand and was of being helpful in the making of laws, he became an obstructionist and has so remained to this day. Lenroot has since his election to the senate been one of the most progressive members of the senate and were to nominate him to-day, I can assure he would urge the reelection and return to the senate of Irvine L. Lenroot by the people of Wisconsin."

La Follette on the League.

"Senator La Follette is also assailing the stand of Senator Lenroot on the League of Nations, at which I am also very much surprised. The issue was clearly made by the president who stated before his second trip to Europe, "that he would so interweave the treaty with the league that Congress would be forced to accept it." This statement was made to the nation and refused to accept it with Article X. Senator Lenroot was one of those senators and La Follette was not included. Congress has used its constitutional right to advise the president on making treaties as to whether or not the treaty was for the common good and the good of all the people. President Wilson wants the league as he brought it back from Europe with clarifications or interpretations if any, but no changes, amendments or reservations.

The Republican Position

The republicans do not want the league as Wilson brought it over, nor with interpretations to clarify it but reservation to Article X which will state that we will assume no responsibility to protect the territorial rights of any other nation of the league, unless Congress votes to declare the independence of that territory in question. I am confident that the stand of the republican party will be vindicated at the polls next Tuesday, but I urge every one to study during the next week the issues of this campaign and to then vote at the polls the way your convictions indicate."

Mr. Richardson's Introduction

Marshall P. Richardson made a short talk in introducing Mr. Garfield as a progressive republican leader and a former Secretary of Interior in Roosevelt's cabinet. Mr. Richardson went after Thompson and La Follette, both of whom stood against Mr. Lenroot and declared that no republican was under any party obligation to vote for John J. Blaine. He read from a circular being distributed in the interest of Thompson which was written and paid for by Blaine and Thompson was issued by the committee having in charge the campaign of these two men.

On the Platform

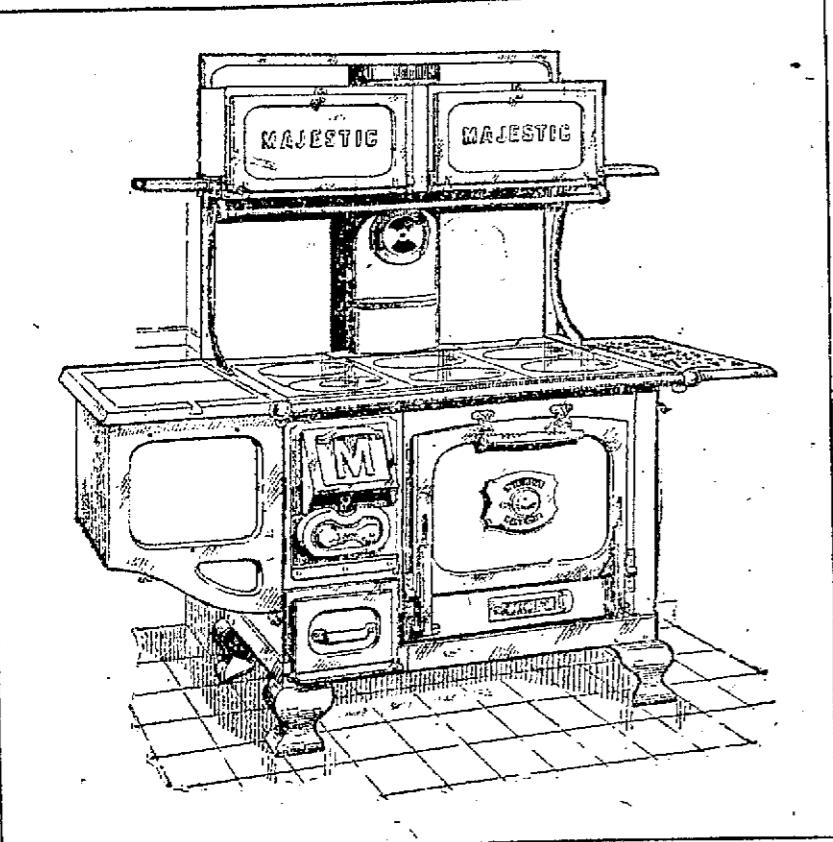

On the platform were Mayor T. E. Welsh, Frank Jackman, Judge J. L. Maxfield, E. A. Eastlow, A. N. Church, O. S. Morse, C. H. A. Staggerton and M. P. Richardson, who was chairman of the meeting.

At the dinner at the Myers Hotel before the meeting with Mr. Garfield were M. P. Richardson, Judge H. L. Maxfield, Frank Jackman, Mayor Welsh, O. S. Morse, Roger Cunningham and A. N. Church.

PLYMOUTH

[By Gazette Correspondent.]
Plymouth.—On Friday evening, Oct. 29, a Hallowe'en social will be held at the M. E. church parlor. Services will be held at the M. E. church Sunday evening, Oct. 31. No services will be held in the afternoon. Mrs. Flora Perkins, Beloit, is the guest of relatives here.

MERRILL.—Two carloads of potatoes were shipped from the Equity warehouse in the last few days. The first was sent out this season. The present price is $1.25 per hundredweight and farmers have been advised not to withhold their potatoes from the market until colder weather when a better price seems likely. The weight of each carload was 2,000 pounds, seconds this year to potato flour mills, but the greater part of this crop will be fed by farmers.

Perfect Baking

To put a pan full of bread in the oven—not to touch it again until you take it out—browned perfectly, top, bottom and sides—that's perfect baking. That's MAJESTIC baking—the kind of baking a MAJESTIC RANGE will do for you—not for a day, a week or a year, but for years and years to come.

Why?

Because the MAJESTIC is built right and of the right material—all joints are riveted tight. No cast iron, bolts, stove putty, cracks and the like to admit cold air in one side of the oven.

MALEABLE IRON (non-breakable) used in building the MAJESTIC not only means perfect baking all the time, but long life with little up-keep in fuel and repairs. The heavy asbestos board (not paper) flue linings help mightily.

GRAIN

Chicago Review—Wheat.

Subsequently, slowness of new export demand, coupled with uncertainty over the settlement of the British coal strike, had a decided bearish effect. The market closed weak, 25¢ to 27¢ lower, at $3.00 per bushel.

Corn sympathized with the strength of wheat, opening 4¢ to 6¢ higher, afterward the market tended to sink.

Toward the last, the downturns in the wheat market were reflected in corn prices, which closed 2¢ to 4¢ lower than December 81 1/2 to 82¢.

Oats were firm, with other grain and started 4¢ to 6¢ higher. December 5 1/2 to 6¢. Additional gains were noted, and a moderate setback followed.

Provisions lacked support, despite the upturn of cereals and grain quotations on here.

FARM BUREAU TO MAKE CHANGES

The main features of the farm bureau at De Kalb, Ill., will be used in this county, it is the opinion of R. T. Glassco and the 21 farmers who returned from there Monday night after a day's inspection.

The efficient business organization was specifically studied, said Mr. Glassco. It has through good management increased the value of its shares from $100 to $150. That some features of the organization will be put into effect here, is the consensus of opinion among those who went.

"Over 95 per cent of the farmers belong to the farm bureau in De Kalb," said Mr. Glassco. "This looks very enterprising and it is an example to this country to increase the number of farm bureau members here. At present about 65 per cent of the farmers belong."
